

YOUTH INVOLVEMENT INFO

Thank You to Youth Coordinators and Leaders

As a youth advocate, you know that young people of today are socially conscious, active, and looking for ways to better the world they're destined to inherit! Taking part in the CROP Hunger Walk is an amazing way for them to do just that. Providing them with ways to be empowered and motivated is the true goal of any awesome youth leader. Thank you for your commitment to encouraging youth. The following are ways to get your students, youth group members, or young community members excited about the CROP Hunger Walk, and find their own path to solving world hunger.

EDUCATE

Giving teens access to information empowers them to create their own initiatives, give input, and serve in their own way.

EMPOWER

Support the efforts of young people by encouraging them, offering feedback for their contributions, and listening to their ideas. Offer community service hours for teen volunteers.

INSPIRE

Working to help others at a young age, can become a lifelong passion for humanitarian work. Motivated youth share that passion with friends and classmates as well!

HUNGER WALKATHON
WEST CROP WALK

May 6, 2018

HOW TEENS CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

EDUCATE & EMPOWER

Food insecurity can also be considered an issue of social justice. Challenge yourself to learn more and share what you learn with others. Start a blog, share information via social media. Start where you are, and do what you can.

GET CREATIVE

Using their talents, teens can create a skit that explains hunger and act it out for their classmates, church members, and other community members. With art, speaking, acting, and music to create videos, memes, skits, etc.

RAISE FUNDS

If you're interested in supporting the efforts of CWS, consider asking your family, friends, and community members for donations to provide food and water for those in need. Come up with your own imaginative fundraising ideas, and encourage friends to do the same!

VOLUNTEER

There is a place for young people on the planning team of your local walk! We're always looking for teens who are interested in bringing amazing ideas to the table. Volunteers help us distribute flyers, place lawn signs, and get the word out. There are also wonderful opportunities to volunteer on walk day by serving refreshments, giving directions, and helping other young people enjoy the walk.

WALK

Our walking is how we demonstrate the contributions given by so many people. It is a symbol of solidarity and support. Form a team of your friends and family, or like-minded classmates and join us on walk day! We walk to show we care.

Ready to get involved? Contact Us!
info@hwwcrop.org / www.hwwcrop.org

